Course Description: This course is an exploration of the history and development of public relations. The course is a presentation of the theory behind and the process of public relations, including the planning, implementation and evaluation of PR campaigns.

Required Text:

Seitel, F.P. (2017). The Practice of Public Relations. 13th edition. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson Prentice Hall.

Assignments:

1. Five-minute papers: Near the end of each class, you will have approximately five minutes to write down what you thought were a few of the main points made on the topic covered that day or other thoughts about the class.
2. Case Study Questions: You are expected to provide written responses to four sets of case study questions that appear at the end of specific chapters in your course text book.
3. Press Release: The press release is an essential tool in public relations. You will be responsible for writing a press release from information that will be provided.
4. PR Professional Interview: Interview an individual whose primary job responsibility is handling public relations for a for-profit or non-profit company or other entity. You will be given a set of guidelines for the interview, and you will be expected to give an oral report and turn in a written report.
5. PR Campaign: You are expected to research, plan and implement a PR campaign for a for-profit or non-profit company, business or community organization, then provide a written and oral presentation of the project. Guidelines will be provided.
6. Exams: You will have two exams (one mid-term, one final) that cover the material presented in lectures and chapters covered in the texts.

Course Grades: The grading scale is:

90-100	A
80-90	B
70-79	C
60-69	D
below 60	F

Your grade will be determined by the following:

Five-Minute Papers (3 pts. each)	72 pts.
PR Ethics Exercise	40 pts.
Press Release	30 pts.
Case Study Questions (20 pts. each)	80 pts.
PR Professional Interview	50 pts.
PR Campaign	150 pts.
Exams (2, 100 pts. each)	200 pts.
Participation/Initiative	5 pts.

Good public relations professionals need to show initiative in their professional lives. This portion of the grade is intended to reward students who exhibit such initiative in this course. The criteria include, but are not limited to: attending class; being on time for class; participating in a thoughtful manner in class discussions; turning in assignments on time (do not request deadline extensions); taking responsibility for your actions; and not whining.

Course Objectives: Upon completion of this course, the student should be able to:

- Define public relations.
- Explain how public relations evolved in the United States.
- Distinguish public relations from other management functions.
- Demonstrate how to organize and compose a news release.
- Develop an understanding of public relations as a management function.
- Describe the various contexts for public relations.
- Describe the activities of public relations.
- Identify an organization's key publics
- Plan, produce and evaluate basic PR campaigns using a variety of communications avenues.

Absence Policy: Because class participation is essential, missing more than three classes (unexcused absences) will result in your final grade being lowered by a full letter grade. You may be dropped from the course after four consecutive absences (at the discretion of the instructor). Students are expected to attend all classes in order to be successful in a course. A student may be administratively withdrawn from the course when absences become excessive.

Deadlines: ALL deadlines are absolute. You need to get used to deadlines that exist in the off-campus world. All assignments will be due at the beginning of each class, and any late assignments will be penalized harshly.

Excuses: Don't bother to try any. I've heard most of them and have used some of them myself. Only deaths of immediate family members (parents, grand parents, siblings – ONLY), or your own, may be considered for an excused absence. Of course, you will need to provide proof (such as the obituary notice). Student athletes, or those participating in other college-sponsored activities that require an absence, will be excused, with prior notice to me and appropriate documentation.

ADA Statement: Students with disabilities, including but not limited to physical, psychiatric or learning disabilities, who wish to request accommodations in this class should notify the Disability Services Office early in the semester so that the appropriate arrangements may be made. In accordance with federal law, a student requesting accommodations must provide acceptable documentation of his/her disability to the Disability Services Office. For more information, visit the Disability Services Office in the Student Health & Wellness Center, or call (806) 716-2577.

Diversity Statement: In this class, the instructor will establish and support an environment that values and nurtures individual and group differences and encourages engagement and interaction. Understanding multiple experiences and perspectives will serve to challenge and stimulate all of us to learn about others, about the larger world and about ourselves. By promoting diversity and intellectual exchange, we will not only mirror society as it is, but also model society as it should and can be.

Campus Carry Statement: Texas Senate Bill - 11 (Government Code 411.2031, et al.) authorizes the carrying of a concealed handgun in South Plains College buildings only by persons who have been issued and are in possession of a Texas License to Carry a Handgun. Qualified law enforcement officers or those who are otherwise authorized to carry a concealed handgun in the State of Texas are also permitted to do so. Pursuant to Penal Code (PC) 46.035 and South Plains College policy, license holders may not carry a concealed handgun in restricted locations. For a list of locations, please refer to the SPC policy (http://www.southplainscollege.edu/human_resources/policy_procedure/hhc.php) Pursuant to PC 46.035, the open carrying of handguns is prohibited on all South Plains College campuses. Report violations to the College Police Department at 806-716-2396 or 9-1-1.

Academic Honesty and Professional Conduct Policy: The same standards and ethics will apply to students enrolled in this course as apply to public relations and media professionals. Violations of these standards will result in a failing grade for the assignment and immediate dismissal from the course will be considered. These standards include, but are not limited to:

1. Plagiarism will not be tolerated. You may not take material verbatim (word for word) from other sources such as previously published newspaper stories, books, magazine articles, the Internet, etc... To do so is to plagiarize.
2. Pay strict attention to spelling, grammar, and punctuation. Since the invention of the dictionary and spell checker, there is no excuse for a misspelled word. To allow for a misspelled word to appear in any assignment you submit for a grade is laziness. Any misspelled words or factual errors will be graded harshly.

Civility Code: As future public relations professionals, you are to communicate with each other in a professional and civil manner. We all may feel passionately about certain issues; however, passion is no substitute for a solid grasp of the facts and sound, logical reasoning. Disparaging comments about gender, ethnicity, religion, etc... will not be tolerated.

Disruptive behaviors such as cell phones ringing, leaving and returning to class while in session, arriving late to class, talking with others during lectures/discussions, checking your e-mail or Facebook, sending/receiving text messages, eating or drinking in class, etc... will result in a substantial reduction in the participation portion of one's grade and a request that such students leave the class. Cell phones must be turned off, or be on vibrate and out of sight, during this class. They may only be activated in individual extenuating circumstances after consulting with the instructor.
